ANNOUNCEMENTS.

FOR CHANCELLOR.

HAWKINS.—We hereby announce Hon. A. G. Hawkins as a candidate for re-election to the office of Chancellor for the division comprising the counties of DeKalb, Hardin, Chester, Benton, McNairy, Crockett, Henderson, Carroll, Henry, Madison, Perry and Hardeman, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

The Courier will be issued as usual next week.

The canal treaty was ratified by the Senate Monday. The vote stood 76 for and 6 against the treaty.

Judge L. S. Wood was much pleased with his reception by the Democratic voters of the county while here this week. The Judge is not only good on the bench, but also as a mixer.

Judge Holding's ruling that persons convicted of selling liquor without license and given a jail sentence of six months must serve the full term, should awe the boys from dealing in the stuff.

The virgin timber in the congressional race is pleasant to look at, but must be well groomed to stand the storm of a political canvass, such a bolsterous one as that approaching proposes to be.

Our friend J. R. Duncan of Pittsburg Landing was here Monday. John would be willing to serve in the next General Assembly as Democratic representative from Hardin county. He is a man of some ability and would do a good work.

Judge Ferriss of Nashville has withdrawn from the race for Governor of Tennessee. The Judge insisted on a primary to settle the question of who should be the Democratic candidate, but he could not have his wishes, hence his withdrawal.

What is termed the corn stalk disease among cattle has caused many deaths among the cattle in some sections. The Department of Agriculture in a circular claims that animals thus affected rarely ever recover and recommend as the only course to pursue, that of prevention.

A bill by Congressman Brownlow, providing for the establishment of the Appalachian National Park of 4,000,000 acres in the mountain region of North Carolina and Tennessee, should pass. The establishment of such a park would be of much benefit to the people of these two states and those nearby.

The report of the Schley Court of enquiry was promulgated by Secretary Long last Friday. Its findings were against Schley in eleven points, but Admiral Dewey makes a separate report sustaining Schley in most particulars and emphasizes his opinion that Schley was the man who won the battle of Santiago and should have the credit.

Savannah's Problem.

The future of Hardin county and Savannah is a debatable question. The great exodus the past few months has put the land owners and merchants of the county to thinking, and right seriously too.

The owners of large farms must have tenants or let their land remain uncultivated. The merchant who has a full store must have customers or keep his goods on his shelves. It is a serious matter from any point of view.

The writer has seen at least three other seasons when the population of the county was greatly decimated by people seeking homes in the west. But each time their places were taken by a restless people who came from other sections and located among us. It seems like a game of fruit basket; when one gets up another takes his seat, only the slowest one getting left. But with the slow man it is only a day of waiting for he will find a seat at the next great move.

It is this restless spirit in man that makes us want to always be moving, and only by this discontentedness was the world populated and its resources developed. We have no fears that the population of our country will be materially lessened, but on the contrary we expect to see each decade with an increasing number of people, but not a population that will stick, as that is not common in any land.

Only a few of the people who left this country for the west will find easy sailing. Most of them will find it just as difficult there as it ever was here to keep the wolf from the door.

A question here presents itself. Can we do anything out of the ordinary to induce a new population to take the place of the ones just gone? To farmers we might say there is certainly a splendid opening to rent the very best of land and the possibilities for a fine crop next year are very flattering. We have always heard that good crops are sure to follow cold winters. We have already had enough cold weather to insure the fulfillment of that old saying.

Two Routes Established.

Inspector John R. Graham was here Monday and Tuesday and established two free rural mail delivery routes and appointed W. P. Story as carrier for route No. 1, running south to Pyburns and returning on the Waterloo road; and W. H. Blount as carrier on No. 2, running east on the Wayneboro road seven miles to Mrs. E. Johnson's, then south to the Pinhook road and then to Savannah. John E. Robertson was appointed assistant carrier to take the place of either regular carrier who may not be able to make his trip.

Service will begin on these routes by March 1 if not by Feb. 1. The establishment of these routes will be followed up by others as soon as they can be laid out and proper application made.

The Weather.

The cold wave that reached here Saturday dropped the thermometer from 66 to 13 degrees. The temperature went to zero and is still uncomfortably low.

A cloudburst in East Tennessee Friday with the heavy rains along the river shot the Tennessee up many feet.

This was a pretty cold spell for December, being 5 degrees lower than any former December weather of which we have record. Dec. 19, 1884, we had 5 degrees; Dec. 29, 1887, 7 degrees; Dec. 14, 1898, 8 degrees.

On The River.

The R. A. Speed and two barges loaded with ties and belonging to the Ayer & Lord Tie Co., were burned at Paducah last Friday.

The Avalon passed up for Chattanooga Saturday.

The Clyde doubled back from Danville and took the run of the Tennessee this week.

The Tennessee did not leave Paducah this week but will be out next week.

From a Hotel Landlord.

Dear Sirs: I had no faith in testimonials or advertised medicines until I took Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. An Evangelist's Story.

"I suffered for years with a bronchial or lung trouble and tried various remedies but did not obtain permanent relief until I commenced using One Minute Cough Cure," writes Rev. Very pleasant to take, never fails and is really a favorite with the children. They like it. J. K. Barlow.

A Good Cough Medicine.

From the Gazette, Toowoomba, Australia: I find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is an excellent medicine. I have been suffering from a severe cough for the last two months, and it has effected a cure. I have great pleasure in recommending it.—W. C. Wockner. This is the opinion of one of our oldest and most respected residents, and has been voluntarily given in good faith that others may try the remedy and be benefited, as was Mr. Wockner. This remedy is sold by J. K. Barlow.

Saved at Grave's Brink.

"I know I would long ago have been in my grave," writes Mrs. S. H. Newsum of Decatur, Ala., "if it had not been for Electric Bitters. For three years I suffered untold agony from the worst forms of indigestion, waterbrash, stomach and bowel dyspepsia; but this excellent medicine did me a world of good. Since using it I can eat heartily and have gained 35 lbs." For indigestion, loss of appetite, stomach, liver and kidney troubles Electric Bitters are a positive, guaranteed cure. Could hardly express the thanks of Homer Hall of West Point, Ia., Listen why: A severe cold had settled on his lungs, causing a most obstinate cough. Several physicians said he had consumption, but could not help him. Wisdom is the art of being away from home when a neighbor calls to borrow something.

To Get Rid of a Troublesome Corn.

First soak it in warm water to soften it, then pare it down as closely as possible without drawing the blood and apply Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice daily; rubbing vigorously for five minutes at each application. A corn plaster should be worn for a few days to protect it from the shoe. As a general liniment for sprains, bruises, lameness and rheumatism, Pain Balm is unequalled. For sale by J. K. Barlow.

A man feels like praying when he is miserable; a woman when she is happy.

Uncle Sam's Poisoner.

In a little house in South Washington is located a Federal Institution without which the Smithsonian Institution and National Museum could not exist, says the Washington Post. It is the department of the chief poisoner, Mr. Joseph Farmer. The office of chief poisoner was not unusual in countries ruled by despots, but it may be a surprise to many to learn that such an office in maintenance by our own republican form of administration.

However, Mr. Farmer, unlike his contemporaries in Turkey, Spain, Arabia, etc., is not engaged in putting obnoxious and exuberant statesmen out of the way, but in placing the objects on exhibition in the institution and museum beyond the reach of rust, thieves, and cockroaches.

Everything that is received by these institutions, whether it is a rare book, a Filipino bolo, or a stuffed and mounted animal, is sent to Mr. Farmer to be poisoned. He is an expert in the preparation and use of preservative compounds. For stuffed animals and birds he finds that arsenical compounds bring the best results. Every object of metal receives a coating of something that prevents rust, while fabrics, basketry, silks, furs, etc., are poisoned in much the same manner as stuffed animals. Even the shelves and cases of the museum, in which the objects are placed, have passed through Mr. Farmer's hands and have been treated to a fluid that causes a bug, moth, or cockroach to think that he is walking over a red hot iron the minute he strikes their surface. By these means the museum is freed from vermin.

A Notable New Year Issue.

The January Delineator has a rich and inviting table of contents and attractive features are added to all the existing departments. Ira D. Sankey, the famous evangelist, vividly describes his journey through Egypt and Palestine, and the personality of the author gives to these pages an interest that is truly remarkable. They are illustrated by photographs made by I. Allen Sankey, who accompanied his father. Recent mournful events and the intense public sympathy with Mrs. McKinley make very timely an article on Notable pensioners of the Nation, in which the annuities paid to certain illustrious ladies are made public for perhaps the first time. Dr. S. R. Elliott begins his series of recollections of a group of women noteworthy for personal character and attainments, and Clara E. Laughlin tells with great charm the story of Poe's love and marriage. Some excellent fiction is offered in this number; the children are especially considered and the various miscellaneous articles—the fancy-work, cookery the holiday display, house furnishing, etc.—have a distinctly seasonable flavor.

Great Weather Calendar.

The Chattanooga Medicine Co., the manufacturers of McElree's Wine of Cardui and Theodor's Black Dranght, have just issued the 1902 edition of the Cardui Weather Chart and Calendar. This calendar has sprung into universal prominence by accurately foretelling the Galveston flood and predicting the drought and floods of the past summer, a year ahead of each occurrence. This office has just received one of these calendars, which consists of twelve sheets of paper, 13x20 inches in size, all fastened together with a gilt tin strip and brass loop hanger. Each sheet contains the calendar for one month in large figures that can be read across the room. Under the figures patent weather signals indicating Prof. DeVoe's Weather forecasts for every day in the year appear. We understand a few copies of it can be secured by sending 10 cents apiece in postage stamps to The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.
